

Workshop on Voice Culture modulation and Asthetic Sentivity

On 2nd of March 2015, MKSSS's Hiraben Nanavati Institute of Management and research for women conducted workshop for Post graduate students on " Voice Culture modulation and Asthetic Sentivity" as a part of the Student Welfare Scheme of Savitribai Phule Pune University.

Now a days as a management institute there is need to develop asthetic sensitivity approach in students. As well as voice culture modulation has it's own importance in every person's professional life. So main objectives of this workshop is to bring awareness in management students about this factors. First session was taken by Prof. Kalidas Deshpande. In which he explained the concept of Voice culture modulation as well as he took practice of students on that. After this Prof. Chaityan Srivastva took session on asthetic sentivity. In which he explain the concept of abstarct act and beauty of that art was shown through various photo shoots. Students were really enlighten by this workshop.

Prof. Geeta Jadhav
Student Welfare Officer